Palos Verdes Peninsula Unified School District invites intermediate and high school parents to join us for this important conversation.

Talking to Your Teen about Race and Racism

With Dr. Tyrone Howard

UCLA Professor whose research on race and culture has been recognized nationally

This virtual webinar will identify and discuss strategies, approaches, and resources that adults can use to engage teens in learning and talking about race and racism in today's world. Recent events in the nation have revealed that there is a serious need to engage youth in age considerate, developmentally appropriate conversations about race and racism. Additional resources will be offered for those participants who are looking for supplemental information.

February 11th at 6:00 pm

Grade Level Focus: 6-12
